Principal - The Griffin Firm, PLLC.

Attorney Aimee Griffin is the Principal of The Griffin Firm PLLC. Aimee founded the Association of Black Estate Planning Professionals because of her commitment to build collaboratively.

Aimee made the decision to attend law school as a second career once she realized the institutionalized racism that perpetuates the financial burden that being Black in America imposes. Aimee realized that the power of legal education could impact the position. Aimee often quotes “you can’t win the game if you don’t know the rules and the rules are the law”.

Aimee has earned an LLM (Masters in Laws) in Elder Law and Estate Planning. Aimee serves with her voice to supporting economic development as an incorporator and the General Counsel for the US Black Chambers, Inc., and the National African American Insurance Association.

The Griffin Firm, PLLC is a business and estate planning firm that is committed to creating, protecting and transferring wealth. Aimee was recognized by the Small Business Administration as a Massachusetts and New England Small Business Champion through the development of the New England Black Chambers and the US Black Chambers, Aimee works to build businesses for profitability.

She has a personal mission to give a voice to the voiceless! Aimee is a member of the American Bar Association, Kingdom Fellowship AME Church and other national, regional and local organization. She is a lifetime member of the National Bar Association. Aimee is committed to supporting community growth through education and speaks regularly at national, regional and local forums to educate other attorneys and the community. Aimee is a monthly contributor to the Washington Informer newspaper. She strongly believes “when we know better we can do better”.
